100-word Biography

Diana Vasquez is the founder and President of Casa Chapulina, a bilingual nonprofit offering homebuyer education, financial literacy, and youth programs to Spanish-speaking and bilingual communities. A U.S. Marine Corps veteran, Diana brings the Corps' core values of honor, courage, and commitment to everything she builds. She began her career as founding owner of a custom clothing company in New York City before moving into commercial real estate, where she spent 13 years as a broker in Jersey City and Northern New Jersey. Seeing how underrepresented the Hispanic community was in real estate, she founded Casa Chapulina to open that door.
